WHAT PAUL EGRY ALSO SAID OF HONOLULU

ET EES NO PLAIZHAIR to play museek an' eat nussing bot pol an' drink ze water zat make you seek," says Paul Egrý, violin virtuoso, gypsy and genius.

"I go ze Coast on ze Zealandia an' I come I don't think so queek back here. I have a gran' deegust wiz ze las' concerto I make in ze Opera House. I work hard long to get ze perfect on zat concerto an' what you think? Society in zees Cesty no like zee big cesty. Zey do not have appreciate ze artist. They are common like ze sheep. When zey want ze museek zey have ze native noisling around and maybe ze Quintet Clob.

"Eet ees no good an' I cannot—what ees zat you say? Make ze meet both en's: what you think? Ze reech don' unnerstan' ze talent like me. Eet ees again ze peari nex' to ze swine.

"I cannot get into zee society. I try vair hard. I come of ze fine family Hungary, an' I like to live in ze nice comfort an' wuz ze people wiz money. Zey come ze recital an' open ze mouf and say, 'O-o-o-o-o' Zey make ze yawn in ze face of ze violin.

"In ze more civilize' place zey do ze right sing. Zey take Egrý to zee house and ask him play an' nex' day zey sen' ze fat check to ze artist. I have ze gran' deegust for ze Honolulu reech people.

"I go want zee ze big house Waikiki. I have ze cole turk, ze san'wich, an' ze champagne bot no sneek. Zere wuz ze ignoran' reech. My frien' say zat way ne reech, he no give way money.

"I come back bimely. I no like ze San Francisco. I have too much fuss wiz pe-ple. I come back Honolulu."

Egrý has a special grievance against the steamship companies. He tells with tears in his tenor how he went to the offices and was refused rates.

"I say to ze teeket man, 'I am ze artiste,'" said Egrý to the reporter. "I tell him travel always at ze special rate, I get ze reduction like ze missionaire or ze child'hood. What you think? He gave me ze ha-ha and make ze laff in my face. I was so mad I lef' ze office.

"Eef I was playin' in Pares or Vienna zey make wan big time ovalr me. Here zey let me eat ze pol and drink ze water zat make you seek. O! I have ze gran' deegust."
